GED PREP. - GENERAL

1. Test Prep Review: www.testprepreview.com
Site contains specific self-assessments (e.g., for commas, graphs, reading for the main idea, etc.) and “self-improvement” links to online courses and resources.

VLB: A GED student actually recommended this site. It's a good source for free, interactive GED test practice and links to further study (8/04)

Special thanks to our contributors:

- DS: Dave Sultzbach, instructor & lab coordinator, CCSN, dave.sultzbach@ccsn.edu
- JT: Jeanie Thibault, GED trainer, eduk8tor@verizon.net
- VLB: Val Lyons-Brady, valbrady@hdiss.net

2. GED Quick Guide for the Classroom: <http://www.nwlincs.org/NWLINCWEB/gedclass.htm>
Click on “Student Study Place” to access 45 student activities and tutorials related to GED skills.

JT: Activities are good. Be careful, the testing section is not free. The On-Line Writing Help is very good— easy to read and with good suggestions. (11/03)

3. GED Practice Test On-Line (Steck-Vaughn): www.steck-vaughn.com/c/@BiVMAw7ea.TxYg/Pages/gedpractice.html
A sampling of test items to familiarize you with the types of items you will see on the actual GED test.

JT: This site has the most authentic practice tests (The Steck-Vaughn company created the official test) and it is FREE. (11/03)

MATH

NEW!

4. Interactive arithmetic lessons: www.321know.com

DS: Favorite of CCSN students (4/07)

5. Amby's Math Tests: <http://amby.com/tests/math/>

Locate specific Math skills you need to review.

JT: You take a test and then you are given review problems to help where you need practice. This site also has clerical tests—Alphabetical Order, Arithmetic, Comparisons, and Spelling, just to name a few. (11/03)

6. Geometry 1: www.ies.co.jp/math/products/geo1/menu.html

Lessons on Angles and Parallel Lines.

JT: Good lessons to be done on the computer – not for beginners. (11/03)

7. Interactive Online Math Quizzes: <http://www.mccc.edu/~kelld/page200.html>
(Note: the ~ is to the left of the number 1 in the top row of keys. Use the shift key)
Choose quizzes to test your Math skills.

JT: Good to check your math skills. (11/03)

8. Math Counts Problem Solving: <http://206.152.229.6/Problems/strategies.html>

Contains information on solving word problems using the four steps process recommended by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

JT: Great strategies to overcome word problems. (11/03)

9. Math Formula QuickGuide: <http://cite.telecampus.com/GED/math.html>

A list of the formulas given on the mathematics section of the GED Tests, complete with examples.

JT: Site is very clear and easy to understand. (11/03)

10. Math Online: <http://www.mccc.edu/~kelld/page100.html>

(Note: the ~ is to the left of the number 1 in the top row of keys. Use the shift key)

JT: Terrific site—quizzes, tips and a whole page full of other sites. (11/03)

11. Professor Freedman's Math Help: <http://www.mathpower.com/index.htm>

Provides information about basic math and algebra.

JT: Fun things to do and specifically addresses the needs of the adult learner. (11/03)

12. Felicia's Algebra Tutorials: <http://algebra.freeservers.com/springridge1.html>

Includes General Math, Pre-Algebra, and Algebra.

JT: Good information and fairly easy to understand. (11/03)

SCIENCE

13. The Space Science Group: www.spacesciencegroup.org/

Presents a variety of science topics. Includes over 170 hands-on activities.

JT: Great fun activities and when you can have fun while learning, that's an added bonus. (11/03)

WRITING SKILLS

14. Writing the perfect paragraph: www.paragraphpunch.com

DS: Favorite of CCSN students (4/07)

NEW!

15. Essay writing: www.powa.org

DS: Favorite of CCSN students (4/07)

16. Grammar Bytes: www.chompchomp.com/menu.htm

Interactive grammar exercises, grammar rules, and handouts for students.

JT: Great. Students can even get handouts. A good way to impress an instructor! (11/03)

17. Punctuation QuickGuide: <http://cite.telecampus.com/GED/punct.html>

A quick refresher guide.

JT: Very good guide and short enough to print out and take to class with you. (11/03)
